Re: Reviewing of Preaching Territories in Ghana

Dear Brothers:

The branch office has started a process of reviewing all congregation and unassigned territories in Ghana. This procedure will ensure that all congregation territories will adhere closely to the directions provided on the Territory Adjustment Request (S-6) form. It will thus help congregations in a more systematic and thorough coverage of their territories. In addition, this review will help in choosing the best locations to build Kingdom Halls that can be fully utilized, making the most benefit of our donated funds.

In harmony with the organization's wise use of technology, the branch office will start sending electronic copies of reviewed territory maps along with the Territory Assignment (S-54) form to congregations and selected individuals as needed. You will also receive a territory unit number for your assigned territories. Thus all congregations are encouraged to download the free program, Google Earth. We recommend downloading onto a laptop or another computer with a screen that makes it easy to view and work on your territory maps on a detailed or overview level. You may then print the entire territory or details of it as you see fit for the congregation's needs.

Circuit overseers have started receiving training so that they can assist you to manage your territory when they visit. However, if there is someone in your congregation who understands maps and knows how the Google Earth program works, this individual can assist the service overseer and the territory servant in explaining the territory layout.

In the meantime, elders in congregations outside the Accra area who write to request territory maps should always add a drawing, (made either by hand or on an existing map) showing what they now understand to be the territory that they actually work. When circuit overseers send information for forming new congregations, they too will add a drawing of the proposed new territories that are being created.

Soon, we hope to complete the review of all congregation territories in Ghana. With all congregations trying to work more thoroughly the territory assigned to them, we are confident that Jehovah will bless our efforts to reach even more of the honest hearted ones we seek to help. —1 Tim. 2:3, 4.

Please be assured of our warm Christian love and best wishes.

Your brothers,

Christian Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses
